

<input type="checkbox"/> ☆	2016	La Torre	Brunello di Montalcino	The 2016 Brunello di Montalcino opens up with an earthy and almost-herbal quality, yet it quickly gains freshness through a display of peppery florals, bright strawberry and dusty cedar. The textures are silky with a polished and soothing feel, propelled by lively acids which combine with the wine's inner sweetness to create a balanced and fully satisfying expression. Ripe cherry, raspberry and hints of tobacco linger long over a coating of fine tannins. As structured and youthful as this is, the 2016 Brunello from La Torre never loses its energetic feel. I hope to be able to revisit this in five to ten years, because it's packed full of potential. — Eric Guido	94	Eric Guido	2024 - 2036	Not Available	Nov 2020
